InfoZone holds “Name the Newsie” contest! Extra! Extra! Newsie needs a name!

All newspaper carriers are given special nicknames, either for their looks or personality or even the funny habits they have. The InfoZone News Museum’s animatronic newsboy is ready for his official nickname, so the InfoZone is sponsoring the “Name the Newsie” contest.

Everyone is welcome to enter their suggestions. Entries will only be accepted on an official entry form and each entrant may only submit one entry. Entry forms can be obtained at the InfoZone front desk or on the website at www.infozonenewsmuseum.com. The submission deadline is Friday, May 21. All entries can be mailed or dropped off to the InfoZone News Museum, located on the fourth floor of the Robert Hoag Rawlings Public Library, 100 E. Abriendo Ave., Pueblo, CO 81004.

While you are dropping off your submission, pick up the new newsboy booklet that highlights experiences and wisdom of Pueblo Chieftain and Star-Journal news carriers dating back to 1926. It’s full of wonderful stories of carriers who delivered the paper or sold it on street corners.

For more information and a schedule of upcoming events, sign up for the InfoZone email club either by visiting the InfoZone front desk or by sending an email to us at infozone@pueblolibrary.org.

The Robert Hoag Rawlings Public Library is located at 100 E. Abriendo Ave. in the heart of Pueblo’s Mesa Junction area. To get there from north I -25, take the 98B/First Street Exit. Turn right onto First Street, left on Union Avenue. Travel through the Historic Union Avenue District, turn left on Abriendo Avenue and left on Bates Lane. From south I-25, take the 98B/First Street exit. Turn left onto First Street, left on Union Avenue, left on Abriendo Ave. and left on Bates Lane.

The InfoZone's goal is to increase knowledge about the freedom of speech and press, the history of Pueblo and the newspapers who have served our community.
